12. (C) Osei-Adjei said he had spoken with President Kufuor who agreed that Ghana needed to make a strong statement against the attack on AMISOM forces, both as AU Chair and as a country which has committed to sending troops to Somalia. Ghana plans to issue such a statement March 16 or 19, he said.

Zimbabwe

13. (C) Ambassador delivered ref B demarche, emphasizing USG concern at the highest levels about Zimbabwe's security situation. She urged the GOG, as AU Chair and an active member of the UN Human Rights Council, to take a leadership position in condemning the recent brutal attacks. Ghana's stance on this matter would be an important part of its legacy as AU Chair, she said, noting President Kufuor's recent statement that the attacks were "embarrassing." Osei-Adjei thought the attack on Morgan Tsvangirai was "more than embarrassing - it was a disaster" and said the GOG would issue a statement on Zimbabwe by March 19. He had hoped Africa had moved beyond the era of one-man authoritarian rule and that the AU and Human Rights Council would take a strong stand on Zimbabwe, which he said Ghana would be willing to sponsor.

Sudan

14. (C) In response to ref C demarche on President Bashir's rejection of a "Heavy Support Package" for Darfur, Osei-Adjei agreed with the urgent need to solve the Darfur problem, stressing that national sovereignty should not be the issue and that "enough is enough." President Kufuor has personally engaged on this issue and will use his influence as AU Chair to work for a solution through AU mechanisms. Osei-Adjei pointed out that Ghana co-sponsored the UN resolution on Darfur and supports a hybrid force, and that "Sudan has never forgiven us for it." Ghana will look at any new UN Security Council resolutions objectively, he added.
